

HOW TO PLAY "DOTS AND BOXES"

Number of Players: 2 players

This classic game requires two players, a piece of paper to draw a grid (or download a Free printable game board), and two pencils, pens, or markers of different colors for each player.

First, you'll need to set up your game board make a grid of dots on your paper it can be any size you want from five by five to fifty by five today or use the free printable game board.

On your turn draw a line connecting any two dots next to each other. They can be in any direction but not diagonal.

Then it's the next player's turn.

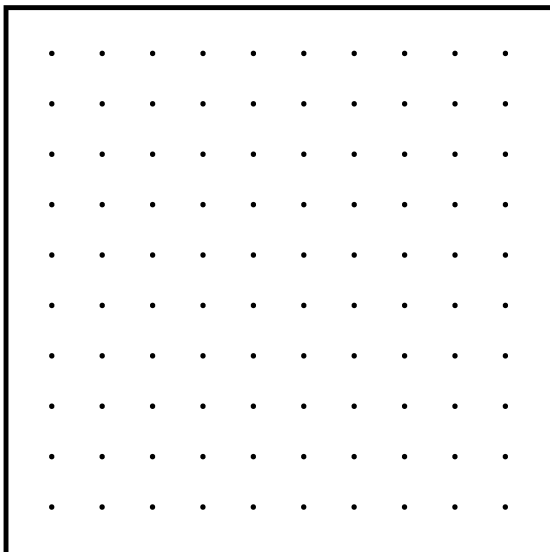

Keep drawing until one player draws the four sides on any of those tiny boxes.

A player should make some sort of indication that that is their box you can do initials or just color it in.

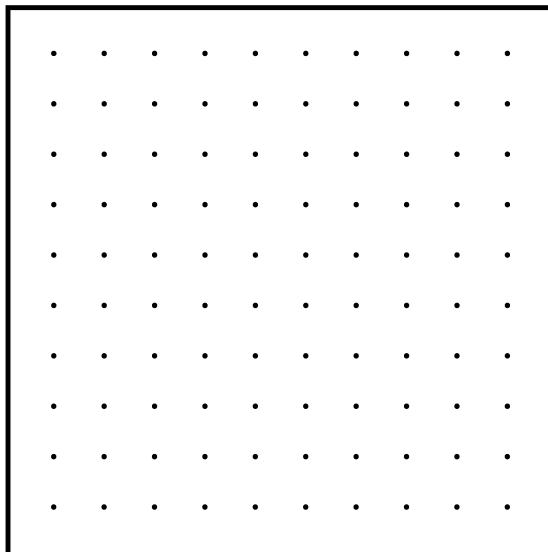

Continue drawing lines and completing boxes until the entire grid has been colored in.

Count each player's boxes and the player with the most wins dots.
